The State Board of Health began a special meeting at Watertown this afternoon.

Samuel P. Ayers, of Des Moines, Iowa, a crockery dealer, has the honor of being the first white person born in Iowa.

The New York Herald says Butler will undoubtedly be the candidate of the oleomargarine party. That is probably the name.

The reports from many points in the Northwest show a most distressing condition of the atmosphere. Such a long term of heat has never before been known in this country.

The coin balance in the Treasury at Washington has been steadily increasing,
and on yesterday it reached over 200 millions of dollars—the largest ever known in the United States Treasury.

In St. Louis on Monday there were fifty-four deaths from the heat. At first the fatality was among the lower classes which work out doors, but now scores of merchants, professional men, clerks, &c., are among those prostrated.

The New York Times chants the praise of summer in this strain: "Summer is beautiful, delightful, glorious—at a distance and in the abstract. It is like some of our friends—we love it in its absence; we praise it when it is far away."

Democratic conventions in South Carolina and Georgia are very earnest in inviting all persons, without discrimination on account of color, to vote with the whites.
The negroes have not yet invited all persons without color to come and vote for their ticket. So says the New York Herald.

The Government engineers having charge of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers improvement, have issued circulars asking for proposals for furnishing timber required in the De Pere dam. About 1,000,000 feet are required, most of it large-sized,
long sticks, some as large as 16x20, from 35
to 40 feet long.

"Boss" Hiesing, of Chicago, has gone into voluntary bankruptcy. The secured debts amount to $95,000, and unsecured, $20,000, of which $30,000 are due to the United States Government on forfeited distiller's bonds. His entire assets foot up $80,000, and are composed of worthless securities.

The latest reports received at La Crosse from various points along the line of the Southern Minnesota Railroad show that the severe rain and wind storms, with intense heat, of the past week have reduced the prospects of the wheat and oat crop about one-third by rust, lodging and shrinkage.

The Republican papers in the Seventh District are disputing over the financial views of Judge Humphrey. While it is very probable that he will be renominated
for Congress, as he should be, the papers
in his District say very little about him, excepting the Eau Claire Free Press which gives him a hearty support and defends his financial record in Congress.

Among the sixty female clerks who were dismissed from the Interior Department on Monday, there was general weeping and wailing. Most of the discharged were females, and among the number was the widow Oliver, who has sued ex-Senator Simon Cameron for breach of promise.
When she received her notice she refused to leave her work, saying that these men couldn't turn her out, saying that she had old Cameron's influence, and she didn't leave during the day.

Charles Foster, of Ohio, who has represented the Tenth District in Congress since 1870, has been renominated by the Republicans, in the Seventh District by acclamation. Two years ago he was elected by 271 majority. Foster is a merchant, and a successful one. There are few members on the floor of the House who have more influence than Charles Foster. He is a good speaker, an active member, and is among the very few Congressmen who dare attack Ben Butler, and do it successfully.

The man whom the Democrats of Oregon have elected to Congress, is named Whittaker. He is sixty years of age, and was several years ago Governor of the State and is now a State Senator. A correspondent who knows something of Whittaker's career writes of him: "He is a man of little education and limited information, a moss covered, shell backed Bourbon of the bitterest type, a copperhead during the war,
who is said, as Governor, to have refused troops to President Lincoln, and to have openly rejoiced at the assassination. Personally, he is honest and upright; politically he lives in the past, and during the war was fought over again the battles of the Revolution, and attempted to justify and justify the rebellion."

J. R. Doolittle, Jr., of Chicago, law partner of Mr. Henry McKee, has been nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the First District, which embraces six wards of the city, thirteen townships of the county, and the whole of Da Page county. Mr. Doolittle can hardly hope of an election, as the District is quite strongly Republican. It is now represented by William Aldrich, a wholesale grocer,
who formerly lived in Manitowish county in this State, where he was engaged in mercantile business. In 1859, he was a member of the Wisconsin Assembly, and had filled several county offices. He removed to Chicago in 1860, where he soon established himself in a large business. In 1870 when the voters of his District concluded to oust politicians and send business men to Congress, Mr. Aldrich was nominated, and was elected by nearly 2,000 majority.

LOUISIANA.

Testimony Taken by the Potter Sub-Committee.—Examination of Several Witnesses.

NEW ORLEANS, July 16.—A. J. Reynolds, of West Feliciana Parish, testified before the Potter Committee today. He walked with Mrs. Jenks at Donaldsonville, in 1877, from Weber's house to the hotel. Mrs. Jenks asked me if I didn't think D. A. Weber had the Sherman letter on his person when killed. Had a conversation with D. A. Weber after the election. He told me he was not going to make a protest.

John Clegg, of Lafayette Parish, Secretary of the Senate, testified that there was no return of Supervisor Vessey made up by witness at Vessey's request. Vessey swore to them and brought them to New Orleans, where another set was made, throwing out three polls and giving the Republicans 400 more votes than the original statement.

J. W. Armstrong (colored) of West Feliciana Parish, testified. Made affidavit before the Returning Board. Said it was prepared in the Custom House. Witness never read it, and now denies many of the statements made therein.

Andrew Duncan (colored) Republican, of West Feliciana, testified regarding the organization of Democratic colored clubs in the parish. Believed from this fact that the Democrats would carry the parish. The negroes complained of bad government, etc. Made affidavit in the Custom House after the election. The affidavit was not read to me. Did not know what they put in the paper. The affidavit being read by Mr. Stenger, witness denied most of the statements made therein, and said he did not authorize them. Never made such statements.

Thomas Steward (colored), of West Feliciana, went to St. James Parish before election, and did not vote. After the election was subpoenaed to come to the city and make affidavit. They took me to the Custom House, but asked me no question. Kept me there three days. They called me to sign a paper, and then swore me. I didn't know what they put down; they didn't read it to me. Can't read myself. The affidavit was published, being read to witness, he denied almost every important statement made in it, saying that he didn't tell them anything like that. Didn't tell them anything. Witness knew of many colored men who like himself joined the Democratic clubs.

THE BERLIN CONGRESS.

The Work of the English Plenipotentiaries.—The Dispatch of Lord Salisbury.

LONDON, July 16.—The official dispatch from the Marquis of Salisbury to the Minister who remained in London, dated Berlin, July 13, is published. Lord Salisbury says the modifications obtained at the Congress are very large, and affect almost all the articles of the treaty. We have recovered a large territory for the Sultan, and tend to assure the stability and independence of Turkey. The dispatch combats the allegation that the government had abandoned the policy indicated in Lord Salisbury's circular of April 1. For this purpose it compares, point by point, the policy indicated by the circular with the decision adopted by the Congress. The comparison shows that the object of British policy, namely, the prevention of Russian preponderance, has been substantially obtained. Lord Salisbury especially points to the fact that pecuniary indemnity has been altogether excluded from the treaty of Berlin, the Congress having declined to revise the arrangement, which, being no trifling of the competence of two independent powers to conclude. The result of the declaration made by Russia in the Congress that they would neither claim nor receive territory in lieu of indemnity (nor prejudice the claims of the other creditors) is that payment of indemnity is postponed to an indefinitely remote period. Salisbury concludes: "Whether use will be made of this, probably the last opportunity obtained for Turkey by interposition of the powers, and particularly by England, depends on the sincerity with which Turkish statesmen now address themselves to the duties of good government and reform."

RED HOT.

Accounts of the Extreme Hot Weather in Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin.

St. Louis, July 16.—There has been a slight diminution of the heat this afternoon, caused by a fine breeze, with some invigorating qualities in it, yet the mercury has ranged high, reaching 100 in many places. The cases of sunstroke have also decreased there having been but twenty-two at the city dispensary to six o'clock this evening, and but four deaths. The scenes there, however, have been of the same general character as heretofore, and the four physicians and their assistants in attendance have been kept very busy administering to the wants of those taken there for treatment. The general mode of treating the cases is, ice to the head, ice-water showers, rubbing the body with ice, and administering such medicines as the different cases demand. Health Commissioner Francis is present almost constantly overlooking affairs and rendering all aid possible. Drs. Laid, King, and Robinson, the regular dispensary physicians, are uniting in the attention to patients, and are ably assisted by their assistants, Drs. Renick and Holman.

SIoux CITY, Iowa, July 16.—The weather continues intensely hot. The thermometer ranged from 97 to 100 in the shade in different parts of the city today. Workmen have been obliged to suspend operations on buildings, and a thing of consequence has been done out doors for nearly a week past. There has been some cases of prostration from heat, but only one was fatal. The wheat harvest will be commenced to-morrow, and is the largest and best crop ever raised in this section.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 16.—The heat has been fearful for several days. To-day it was 102 in the shade.

MADISON, Wis., July 16.—Yesterday and to-day have been the hottest days ever experienced in this city. The mercury has reached 100 in the shade both days. Business has been nearly suspended on account of the heat. Two cases of sunstroke occurred to-day—one in Bloomer's Grove and the other in the city—both fatal.

MILWAUKEE, July 16.—The thermometer was 96 at the signal office this afternoon. The southwest breeze which prevailed during the day died out at sundown. This evening the air is very hot and oppressive. About twenty cases of sunstroke were reported, three of which were fatal.

CONFEDERATE RECORDS.

The War Department Gathering Material for an Accurate History of the Rebellion.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Secretary of War has appointed Marcus J. Wright, of Tennessee, an ex-Confederate General, an agent to collect the Confederate records of the late war. Several years ago, Congress passed a bill authorizing the War Department to collect and print all the records of the Federal and Confederate armies. Under this bill a great many of the Confederate records have been obtained, but it was discovered that many valuable papers, such as reports of battles, orders issued on the field during engagements, and various orders of superior to subordinate officers were in the hands of individuals throughout the South. General Wright was appointed with all the leading Confederate commanders and officers and he proposed to make a tour of the South for the purpose of collecting these papers. As soon as procured all the documents are to be printed and returned until the work shall be complete, when both Federal and Confederate records will be published in reports from the War Department. The main object in gathering these papers so thoroughly is to preserve material for an accurate history of the rebellion.

REORGANIZING.

Secretary Schurz has Commenced the Work of Reorganizing the Interior Department.

WASHINGTON, July 16. Secretary Schurz's work of reorganization in the Interior Department has begun. Mr. Stiles, the Appointing Clerk, and Mr. Seyille, the Librarian, have been allowed the alternative of stepping down and out or taking subordinate positions at $1,400 a year instead of their former salaries of $2,000 and $2,500 respectively. Mr. Stiles was the right-hand man of Zach Chandler, as Secretary of the Interior and as Chairman of the National Committee in the Presidential campaign, and of Judge Edmunds, Postmaster at Washington, who was also Secretary of the Congressional Republican Executive Committee. Mr. Stiles has not yet decided which he will do, but Mr. Seyille has accepted the transfer to a lower grade.

RESUMPTION.

A Balance of Over Two Hundred Million Dollars in Coin in the United States Treasury.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—It is understood that no formal opinion has been given by the Attorney General to the Secretary of the Treasury concerning the exchange of gold for notes from the United States Treasury. Upon an exchange of views on the subject, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney General agreed that this could not be done until the 1st of January. The Treasury department has the option, however, of paying gold on government account at any time. The smaller gold coins are likely to get into circulation in this manner. The coin balance still shows a steady increase and at the close of business to-day amounted to $206,546,000.

KILLED BY A BULL.

PALMYRA, July 16.—News has just been received of the death of George Alpin, who resided in the town of Ottawa, a few miles north of Palmyra. Mr. Alpin was leading a vicious bull yesterday afternoon when the animal suddenly gored him in the side, causing instant death. Mr. Alpin was thirty years of age. His funeral services will be held to-day, Tuesday.

Are you going behind in business? Send for the Weekly Financial Report of Alex. Frothingham & Co., brokers, 12 Wall Street, New York, which is sent free, and contains information how, by investing $50 to $100 in stock operations, $1,000 is frequently made.

MILWAUKEE.

MILWAUKEE, July 15.—A proposition has been made by the Board of Trade of this city to the Directors of the Northwestern Road to build the Lodi Branch of that road, a matter which has been under consideration for some time past. The portion of the road which it is proposed to build will connect the Northwestern Road at Jackson, Wisconsin, with Lodi, a distance of eighty-five miles. Several days ago a committee, consisting of Messrs Ray, McLaren, and Brett, of the Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to confer with the Directors of the Northwestern Road looking to the immediate prosecution of the work. The committee left for Chicago to-day, it is supposed, to further arrange the plans. It is expected that the Committee will make a satisfactory arrangement with the Company, and work on the road will be commenced early day. This branch of the road will put the Northwestern Company in possession of a rich territory, and complete a through route from Milwaukee to St. Paul.

A Hot Sunday in St. Louis.

from the St. Louis Times, Monday.
The intense heat of yesterday will long be remembered. It seemed that the climax of human suffering under the blistering rays of sun that poured its fiery wrath upon a broiling, groaning community, had been well nigh attained, and the slight lifting of leaves, or the faintest indication of a breath of air stirring in any direction furnished a morsel of comfort and relief to a long-suffering people. The "oldest inhabitant" came to the front yesterday with an expression in the light of experience, and it may be some consolation to know that exactly twenty years since St. Louis was afflicted in a like manner. The thermometer ranged between 99° and 105° for several days, and 111° was reached the last day of that hot spell. But the extreme heat then was tempered by a river breeze from the north, and the effects of the blood fever of 1858 were not in any respect so serious or fatal as that of 1878.

It was feared that the Sabbath record of the fatal effects would swell the list of victims to a considerable extent, and unless there is a marked improvement in the weather, business will have to be suspended and harvest operations deferred.

St. Louis counts her victims by the score as the sun sets every day. The mercury's altitude increases every hour, and the most alarming effects are apparent on every side.

Many of the cases reported to the police authorities on Saturday terminated fatally yesterday, and the long black list stretches every hour. The dispensary books are filled with the particulars of cases treated there, and very effort of the department will be given to the alleviation of suffering.

Increased facilities will be put in operation to meet the possible demand of to-day, when labor is generally resumed. Several additional ambulances and nurses will be on hand, and they will be needed, for the energies of the departments are sorely taxed by the extraordinary strain of the past few days. A discretion prompted by the fearful record of the sun's blistering work of the week past kept the greater portion of the community within doors yesterday, but there were those to whom the Sabbath comes as a holiday, and a thermometer ranging over 100 had no deterrent effect. They frequented the parks and beer gardens, and some even ventured upon a river excursion and picnic.

The main thoroughfares, however, were well-nigh deserted during the day, and postoffice corner loungers were conspicuous by their absence. At the sanctuaries the congregations were thin, and evening service was omitted at many of the West End churches. It was too hot to pray, too hot to preach or to listen, too hot for Sunday school. Fashionable folks remaining in town, obscured themselves behind Venetian shutters, and the only signs of animation along the western boulevards were apparent at sunset, when the open doors would be thrown open and the members of the family would gather at the portal to exchange notes of sympathy and the sufferings of the hour.

The saloons were well patronized throughout the day, and a rich harvest reaped from the sale of ice-cooler and various mysterious concoctions put up by skillful bartenders to quench the burning thirst of the Sabbath holiday maker. The various cases yesterday known to the police in the different districts of the metropolis furnish a painful history of the community's sore affliction at this time, and it should be stated that many cases of prostration occur in which the patients are treated at their own residence. From suburban towns the same distressing story is telegraphed every hour and it is impossible to estimate the full extent of human suffering at this time.

Don't Marry for Love or Money.
A farmer's son near Reilly was in town last week selling hogs, and ran into an old acquaintance on the street.

"What d'ye think, Bill? I'm married," said the Butler county youth.

"The deuce you are! Well, I never thought that of you Sam. Who she is?" "Old uncle Dan Farrell's daughter Mary; and I'll open your eyes a bit, Bill. You won't believe it maybe, but it's honest gospel truth. I didn't marry that girl for neither love nor money—honest injun," said Sam, with a smile that made him look as though his eyes were about to be fenced in.

Bill leaned up against a lamp post and gave him a look of speechless amazement for a second or two, then whistled, and slowly said:

"Well then, by the Old Harry, I'd like to know what you married her for, any way?" "Well, Bill, I'll let you know how it was. You see she's one of the best little workers in that part of the country," returned Sam, with a double dose of the old smile.

"Oh, that's how it comes it!" said Bill. "Well, old John Robinson bought a couple of mules last week on that very same recommendation."

Sam said he had to meet a man at three o'clock and hurried away.—Cincinnati Breakfast Table.

The result is that the city is fast becoming free from stench and filthy holes.

—The Bowler City Band picnic did not draw forth a very large crowd. The oppressiveness of the heat and the general dislike to move unless compelled to do so, made many forget that the boys deserved a hearty support in their enterprise, but still there was enough silver taken to pay expenses. The concert given by the Band were generally enjoyed, and as usual, were of a high order. The picnic was a pleasant one, and the grove presented a cool and shady contrast to the heated streets and close rooms of the city. The greatest order and decorum prevailed, and those who participated in the occasion pronounce it in all respects an enjoyable one.

MACK'S MURDER.

Further Details of the Affair—How Dickinson's Confession Affects Mrs. Mack.

There is little additional learned concerning the Mack murder beyond what was published in the Gazette last evening. District Attorney Sale has returned from Beloit, and fully corroborates the statements given in last evening's issue, though he did not know how the Gazette managed to get hold of it, as he told no one what the hired man said to him, until after the Gazette had given the facts to the public. The statements made by the hired man do not seem to be the whole truth, and he evidently is trying to shield himself as far as possible. While he charges the murder upon Mrs. Mack, he does not tell what part, if any, he took in the bloody affair. He merely says that he knew what was to occur, but that he took no part in it.

At the supper table the evening before the discovery of the body of the murdered man, Mrs. Mack, according to the confession, put laudanum in Mack's tea. At the table Mack remarked that the tea tasted strangely, but Mrs. Mack explained it by saying that the teakettle had become burned, and that the water tasted scorched, but that the tea was all right. Beyond this point Dickinson said but little, claiming that he went to bed up stairs, in the same room, but not in the same bed, with the other hired man, and slept until morning, taking no hand in the carrying out of the plot, though knowing that it was to be executed.

This story seems to be an evident intent to cover up his own part in the transaction, and upon its surface indicates that more of that night's horrible transactions could be told by him if he would but do so.

Mrs. Mack still remains rather reticent, refusing to say anything beyond the fact that she went up stairs to bed, and that her husband slept down stairs, and that she knew nothing about the affair until awakened in the morning, when she was informed that her husband had been found dead in the barn.

Yesterday a constable said to her: "Well, Mrs. Mack, did you know that Frank had made some statements about this matter?"

"Why, no! Has Frank turned State's evidence?"

She then evidently became alarmed, not so much because of the question asked her, as from the fact that she had said something which she ought not to say. She immediately resumed her reticence, and said no more. Later however she was told that the hired man had confessed what he knew about it, and she became so furious that she remarked that if she only had hold of him she would kill him. She had before claimed that she did not believe Dickinson had anything to do with the murder.

Yesterday afternoon the premises were searched for further evidence concerning the murder. Some bloody clothes were found in the privy vault, where the hired man Dickinson, in his confession, told the officers they would find them, and where he claimed that Mrs. Mack had put them. Some shirts have been found, which belonged, probably to the murdered man or else to Dickinson. It is supposed that the murder was committed in the house, and that the body was entirely stripped and redressed again, and then taken to the barn. Of course it was desirable to find any traces of the use of laudanum, but no bottle was found or other indication that laudanum had been used, but Joseph Watsie, the other hired man, says he bought some laudanum at the request of Dickinson, who said that he wanted it for the tooth-ache. Watsie and Dickinson went to Beloit together, last Friday, and Watsie went into the drug store of Goodall & Emerson, and bought it, as he says, for Dickinson's tooth-ache, and at Dickinson's request.

Mrs. Mack has all along shown fight, and expressed a determination to insist on her innocence, till the bitter end. Last night she showed the first emotions since the time of the murder. She walked her room for a long time crying and wringing her hands, exclaiming "what, oh, what will become of my babies?" Before this she had preserved a stolid indifference and seemed void of all feeling.

The examination of both Mrs. Mack and Frank Dickinson will be held to-morrow morning. Mrs. Mack's brother, for whom she wished the examination postponed, has returned, so there will probably be no delay.

The report that Sheriff Colley had gone after the prisoners was as much without foundation as many other reports which have been abroad. The prisoners will remain in Beloit until the examination is concluded when they will doubtless be brought here.

The acknowledged incentive for the commission of the crime was the agreed plan between Mrs. Mack and the man Dickinson that Mack was to be got out of the way and that she would marry Dickinson one year after Mack's death. Dickinson claims that Mrs. Mack wanted him to go to Chicago and get a dose of poison, and she would administer it, and thus get him out of the way, but that he was afraid to do it.

The body was dug up this morning and the stomach will be sent to Chicago for analysis. The evidence of the stomach will not be produced at the examination to-morrow.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 86 degrees above zero and at 2 o'clock at 97 degrees above zero. For several hours during the day the thermometer stood as high as 98 degrees above. One year ago today at 7 o'clock and 2 o'clock the thermometer indicated 66 and 87 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, for the upper lake region, upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, partly cloudy weather, and frequent rain, warm southerly winds, followed from the northward by colder northerly winds, rising barometer, followed to-morrow in the west district by falling barometer, and winds shifting to warmer southerly.

HYMENEAL.

FELTON—PALMER.

A very pleasant matrimonial event took place this morning, at 10 o'clock, at the residence of Dr. Henry Palmer, the contracting parties being Mr. Charles Felton, of Franklin, Vermont, and Miss Clara L. Palmer, the eldest daughter of Dr. Henry Palmer. The parlor was appropriately and beautifully decorated, but all ostentation was carefully avoided in all the general arrangements of the affair. The guests assembled consisted only of relatives, with the exception of a few intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. G. Hodge, D.D., formerly of Janesville, but now pastor of the Baptist church in Kalamazoo, Michigan. He was assisted by Rev. Mr. Chapman, pastor of the Baptist church in this city. Among the other present beside the family were: Hon. G. W. Lusk, of Fond du Lac; E. C. Felton, of Chicago; Miss Anna Lacin and Miss Gertrude Clinton, of Springfield; Mrs. E. H. Porter, of Milwaukee, and Hon. E. Palmer of Edgerton.

The congratulations and well-wishes were hearty, and will by no means be confined to those who witnessed the ceremony, as both parties are well-known in this city, and have many friends to bid them God-speed as they start out on their journeyings together through life.

After partaking of a well-provided repast Mr. and Mrs. Felton departed on the afternoon train for Chicago. They will visit Springfield, Bloomington and St. Louis, and will return to Janesville about the first of August. Their future home will be in Kalamazoo, Michigan, to which place they will go shortly after returning from their trip to St. Louis.

CITY NOTICES.

No House Complete without its bottle of Sarsaparilla. As a mouth wash it is most sensitive; as a toilet article a luxury, and its regular use from early youth to old age, would tend to secure and maintain beautiful and healthy teeth. It is also most economical, as a few drops upon the brush is all that is needed for efficacy and pleasure.

A few drops of Spalding's Glee on a brush, properly applied, holds like a vise.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Ladies and Gents will always find the nicest and cheapest Box and Staple Stationery in the city and Suburban Bookstore, No. 29 Main Street.

Among the list are such companies as the Old Britain and Phoenix, of Hartford, the Home, Continental and Westchester, of New York, the Insurance Company of North America, Fire Association, Girard, American, Pennsylvania, and Franklin, of Philadelphia. The Liverpool and London and Globe, Imperial and North, and Commercial Union of England, and the Western Assurance and British America, of Canada, and others.

Excessive Heat.

And unwholesome diet at this season of the year may speedily carry you to the grave. Parker's Ginger Tonic, by its corrective action on the entire digestive apparatus, will not only unfailingly cure Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Colic, Cramps, Spasms, etc., but will prevent those dangerous disorders from attacking the system. It may save your life, and should always be kept in the house. This pleasant remedy is unequalled for feeding children, nursing mothers, and invalids. Possessing many additional virtues of other valuable roots, it is far superior to Essences of Ginger, without their constipating effects, and while more invigorating than Liqueurs never intoxicates, nor creates any desire for stimulants. It cures Dyspepsia, and its varied symptoms of Headache, Nervousness, Palpitation of the Heart, Wakefulness, Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Liver Disorders, Furred Tongue, Low Spirits, Neuralgia and Rheumatic Pains, enables you to enjoy the fruits and vegetables of the season without fear, and gives comfort after a hearty meal. Buy a $1.00 bottle of your druggist, A. J. Roberts, or a sample bottle at 15 cents, and test its extraordinary merits.

"Dobbin's" Electric Soap.

Having obtained the agency of this celebrated Soap for Janesville and vicinity, I append the opinion of some of our best people to its merits.

I have washed with Dobbin's Electric Soap made by L. Cragin & Co., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and pronounce it the best soap I have ever used. The rapidity and ease with which it enables one to do so, washing is really surprising. Bailing the clothes is entirely unnecessary, and no rubbing is needed. I would not be without it.

I have no hesitation in saying that no housekeeper should be without Dobbin's Electric Soap. I can heartily recommend it, it is a charm in the wash tub.

As time, labor and money saving article, I take pleasure in recommending Dobbin's Electric Soap to my neighbors. It promises, wondrous and does all it promises.

I take pleasure in calling attention to the testimonials, as we have just made arrangements with the manufacturers in Philadelphia, so that we can supply the trade at their lowest Philadelphia price.
